

ASK CHURCHES TO MAKE R.C. APPEAL SUNDAY

Adams County churches have been asked to observe tomorrow as Red Cross Sunday at the mid-point in the Adams County chapter's drive for $14,000 plus $2,799 for flood disaster relief.

An appeal to the churches has been issued by the Rev. Charles E. Held, Mt. Joy Lutheran pastor and county chairman for the Red Cross. He wrote in part: "The Red Cross is actually a product of the Great Cross. Its final origin is to be seen in Him who is pleased with 'a cup of cold water given in His name.'

"We therefore ask for your hearty support in advancing this cause. Make mention to your people of its rightful claim upon us all. Speak a few words in behalf of Red Cross, carry a notice in your Sunday bulletin, or do the same in other ways according to your chosen practice."

CANADA OKAYS ISRAELI ARMS

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent said Friday Canada has issued three permits for shipment of military materiel to Israel, including spare parts for Sherman tanks.

He told the House of Commons the Cabinet approved permits for the sending of 15 Harvard training planes to Egypt. The sale was authorized last July.

High winds near the Adriatic sea sometimes blow railroad trains from their tracks.

He had announced earlier in the month that no further arms export permits to the Middle East would be permitted until the situation there eased. He said today some "easing of apprehensions" had occurred while basic tensions remain, he added, concern felt at the time of the firing of Lt. Gen. Sir John Bagot Glubb as commander of Jordan's Arab Legion had diminished.

Canada has approved also the sending of 15 Harvard training planes to Egypt. The sale was authorized last July.

REBURY BODY OF BENITO'S GIRL

ROME (AP)—A scattering of Fascist salutes and a wreath from ex-King Farouk of Egypt, paid tribute Friday to Claretta Petacci, mistress of Benito Mussolini, as she was reburied in Rome.

About 250 friends, relatives and curios followed her body quietly to the family's new $30,000 glass and marble tomb in a cemetery adjoining the church of San Lorenzo, outside the city walls.

Church rites were refused. A priest rode in the funeral limousine, however, and said prayers for the tomb.

Eleven years ago Partisan guns killed Claretta and her paunchy lover. She and Mussolini were strung up by their heels in a Milan square before tens of thousands of Partisans.

Her body was brought here from a hidden grave near Milan. The location of Mussolini's grave has never been disclosed.

CHINESE TOLD TO WORK HARD

HONG KONG, CP—Workers in Communist China's once private industries—now being taken over by the state—have been warned by the government-sponsored All-China Federation of Trade Unions that they must work harder for their new masters than they did for the old capitalist bosses.

The Reds' official New China news agency reported the executive committee of the ACFTU approved a resolution that "trade unions must mobilize the masses to launch a socialist emulation campaign in order to increase production for the state and improve management in the enterprises."

In a socialist emulation campaign, the quantity and quality of work done by the best worker in a given group is set as the average for the group. Workers are then expected to exceed this average, thus setting a new norm, which is again to be exceeded.

WALHAY'S STORE MOVES

Walhay's Furniture store has moved from the rear of 449 W. Middle St. to the Fairfield Rd., a mile west of town, Gettysburg R. 2. The business is owned and operated by Richard Walhay and had been at the W. Middle St. address for more than 10 years. It is housed in a new 50x110-foot building and is open daily from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. New and used furniture and appliances are handled.

Each time St. Patrick's Day comes round . . . DELAY SENTENCE
FOR ARSONIST

MEDIA, Pa. (AP)—The sentencing of Edward L. Bogardus, who pleaded guilty to starting 16 fires that caused an estimated damage of $36,000, has been deferred until March 23.

The Delaware County court decided yesterday to wait that long before imposing a prison sentence or committing the defendant to a state hospital for further psychiatric treatment.

On Tuesday, April 10, there will be a Ladies' Night meeting at the Hanover Moose, with the Hanover Club as the host group, for members of Zone A of District 14, C, Region 4, which also includes New Oxford, Spring Grove, Littlestown, Conewago and Beaver Creek Clubs. Delegates to the annual convention of Lions International, to be held in Miami, Fla., during the latter part of June, will be John D. Basheer, and Monroe J. Stavely. Alternates are Marvin F. Breighner and Erwin A. Robert. It is expected that at least eleven couples from the local club will travel on the convention train to Miami.

HARRISBURG (AP)—Plans were reported underway today for drafting a new bill to replace one vetoed yesterday by Gov. Leader that would have speeded up collection of $2 million dollars in capital stock taxes.

The governor vetoed the bill on the grounds that it "showed partial favoritism" to larger corporations doing business in Pennsylvania.

Leader blamed the Republican-controlled Senate Finance Committee headed by Sen. Edward J. Kessler (R-Lancaster) for the "favoritism."

STEVENS TO MEET IN MINN.

MOORHEAD, Minn. (AP)—Minnesota's presidential primary moved toward its Tuesday climax with Adlai Stevenson and Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) making simultaneous pitches for votes for their Democratic delegate states here today.

Stevenson said he would deliver a major farm policy address in the Concordia College, fieldhouse as part of a Greater Moorhead Days celebration.

Kefauver, whose supporters were turned down in pleas that their candidate be invited to address the same audience, said he would be "out handshaking" while the former Illinois governor is speaking.

Storm Delays Both

Kefauver first had announced he would speak in the Moorhead Armory four hours before the scheduled Stevenson address. Late last night he changed plans and announced he would follow through his original schedule. That calls for him to tour the 9th Congressional District in northwestern Minnesota.

Kefauver's itinerary will include a "welcome home day" at Oklee for Mrs. Coya Knutson, Minnesota's only congresswoman. She also is co-chairman of the senator's Minnesota campaign committee.

Both candidates were delayed last night by a heavy snowstorm. Stevenson kept an audience of 1,500 waiting for nearly an hour in the Mayo Civic Auditorium at Rochester. Kefauver, winding up a tour across the iron range, was two hours late reaching Eveleth, where 250 awaited him at the City Auditorium.

Speaks At Eveleth

A rival high school basketball tournament and a style show were blamed for cutting the Kefauver crowd.

Kefauver told the Eveleth audience that a guaranteed annual wage plan "deserved consideration" because "we need job security as well as provisions for food and old age."

If elected president, he said he neither could nor would set up such a plan. But he added that it could be done across the bargaining table, where he said he would "use government authority where union and management could deal equally."

On Segregation

Reviewing his record in Congress, Kefauver said he always had voted for labor and had supported the St. Lawrence seaway. He recalled that he had not signed the manifesto in which many Southern senators and representatives had vowed to use all legal means to upset the Supreme Court ruling on desegregation. "Color or race should not lessen anyone's opportunity in this country," Kefauver said. "The Supreme Court decision was unanimous and is the law of the land."

Guardia field were his daughter and future son-in-law, Clifton Daniel, New York newspaperman.

Truman kissed Margaret and shook hands with Daniel, saying "Nice to see you."

Asked whether a non-Democrat could marry into the family, Truman laughed and said:

"I don't think there's a thing in the world to that."

"I'm awfully glad he is a Democrat, but he's Margaret's choice and anyone who's Margaret's selection is okay with me. He suits me fine. He's a fine gentleman."

Costello Gives
Shamrocks To Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Friday got a bowl of shamrocks right from Erin.

Ireland's Prime Minister John A. Costello called at the White House and presented the gift to the smiling President. The shamrocks, brought from his country by Costello earlier this week, were in a silver bowl made in Ireland in 1787.

The President gave Costello a signed photograph of himself inscribed "with best wishes and big esteem." The photograph is in a silver frame with the presidential seal engraved on it.

Stevenson said he would deliver a major farm policy address in the Concordia College, fieldhouse as part of a Greater Moorhead Days celebration.

Kefauver, whose supporters were turned down in pleas that their candidate be invited to address the same audience, said he would be "out handshaking" while the former Illinois governor is speaking.

COURT FAVORS TAXPAYER IN APPEAL ISSUE

The Adams County court in an opinion handed down this morning held that Wilmer Sharrah, Biglerville R. 2, has a right to contest the tax levied on his property in 1954 by the Franklin Twp. school board.

The opinion was on a demurrer to Sharrah's affidavit of defense against a tax lien. The school board held he had no right to appeal to court over the matter.

Report Clerical Error

Sharrah's problem started, according to the opinion, because of a clerical error in the office of the chief assessor. In 1952 Sharrah bought a property in Franklin Twp. for $1,400 and later sold one-half of the lot for $700. A clerical error in the chief assessor's office raised the $1,400 to $14,000. In the meantime the local assessor assessed the Sharrah property at $125.

However, the erroneous $14,000 figure was still on the books and an assessment of $2,125 was listed.

When Sharrah received his tax notices for 1953 he notified the chief assessor, the error was discovered, and the tax collector was sent a letter dated June 28, 1954, apprising him of the error and he was authorized to reduce the assessment to $175 and collect taxes on that amount.

According to the opinion, the township and county taxes against Sharrah in 1954 were based on the $175 assessment, but the school board carried the $2,125 assessment. Then Sharrah appealed to the court.

Rules Against Board

The school board held in its demurrer that the court has no jurisdiction to entertain an appeal from an assessment unless the assessment was first appealed to the board of revision of taxes, which Sharrah had not done.

The court held that it agreed, but "the present proceeding is not an appeal from an assessment. It involves an effort by the school board to collect taxes which the taxpayer says were not levied on the basis of an assessment actually made, but on the basis of a clerical error — before the school board can recover in the present action it must be prepared to show that taxes were levied on the basis of the assessed value of the property. There had been only two assessments made, one in 1953 for $175 and one in 1954 after the completion of Sharrah's construction work on the land for $1,125. At no time was the property assessed at $2,125."

Stevenson jokingly likened Vice President Nixon to a "national calamity," and rebuked Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), with whom he is contesting in next Tuesday's Minnesota primary for delegates to the Democratic presidential nominating convention.

SEES MISSION FOR IRISH IN TODAY'S WORLD

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Roman Catholic churchman said today the Irish people have a mission "to heal today's world afflicted by a perverted concept of law and hatred."

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Philip W. Hannan, chancellor of the Washington Archdiocese, said this in a sermon prepared for a special St. Patrick's Day Mass.

Irish Prime Minister John A. Costello arranged to attend the convocation at St. Patrick's Cathedral before flying to New York to review the traditional St. Patrick's Day Parade there. Costello is on a state visit to this country. Tonight he addresses the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick in Philadelphia.

"Greatest Ham Coming"

Mgr. Hannan declared that "however glorious has been the history of the Irish" their "greatest hour lies ahead."

He said Ireland has a great opportunity in the free world's struggle against communism, adding: "We pray that Ireland will make the outermost rim of the Red world its neighbor in the Faith and will bring our world, sad and sullen through its revolt against God, back to the joy of the Father's house. Only a nation tried in the fire of persecution and sorrow can prove to the world that its joy and life are protected only in the House of God."

"This is Ireland's mission; this is Ireland's message through 300 years of trial: Ireland has saved the Faith and the Faith has saved Ireland."

San Francisco Routs Uclans For 52nd Win; Bill Russell Foils UCLA

By ED CORRIGAN

The Associated Press

Bill Russell, the iron curtain of the Golden Gate, may not be a one-man basketball team but he certainly is a one-man defensive plateau for the University of San Francisco.

While the gawking All-America is minding the cords, the Dons' opponents might as well not shoot from the outside, as UCLA learned to its dismay in Corvallis, Ore., last night.

The Uclans managed to hit on just five field goals and were frustrated completely by "goalie" Russell. As a result, what shaped up as a battle between two of the Pacific Coast towers of strength turned into a routine 72-61 victory for the Dons over a team that had won 17 straight.

Nearer NCAA Title

It was San Francisco's 52nd straight victory and an important one because it advanced Phil Wolpert's lads one step closer to a successful defense of their coveted NCAA championship. The game was a western regional and to-night the Dons meet Utah in the quarterfinals.

The winner, along with the victors at three other sites tonight, heads for Evanston, Ill., for the semifinals and finals of the tournament next Thursday and Friday.

In other quarterfinals tonight, Temple meets Canisius in Philadelphia, Kentucky goes against Iowa in Iowa City and Oklahoma City tangles with Southern Methodist in Lawrence, Kan.

As if that isn't enough, the National Invitation Tournament gets under way in New York with four games pairing St. Francis of Brooklyn against Layette, defending champion Duquesne Hall against Marquette and St. Louis against Xavier of Cincinnati.

In addition, the NAIA (small College) championship will be decided in Kansas City when McNeese State of Louisiana plays Texas Southern in the final.

After its fine performance against UCLA even without star guard K. C. Jones who as a four-year man is ineligible for NCAA post-season competition, San Francisco rates as overwhelming favorite against Utah, which turned back Seattle 81-72. Gary Bergen came off the Utah bench in the waning minutes of the game to score 8 straight points to insure the victory.

Temple Battles Canisius Tonight

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Temple University and Canisius College battle it out here tonight for the Assn.'s eastern championship and it looks like a duel between Temple's twin terrors, Hal Lear and Guy Rodeers, and the close-knit Canisius defense.

Temple raced into the eastern final last night with a simple formula—give the ball to Lear and get out of his way. The 5-11 senior, an honorable mention All-American, responded with 40 points on 18 field goals in 27 attempts and four of five free throws. His performance enabled the Owls of Philadelphia to out Connecticut, 65-59.

On the other hand, Canisius had to go all out to turn back the stiff challenge of Ivy League Champion Dartmouth to qualify as Temple's opponent in the game which will decide the east's representative at Evanston, Ill. The Buffalo, N.Y. colossians prevailed 66-58, thanks to a 29-point performance by home-bred Henry Nowak of Buffalo.

2 Pitching Stars Sign With Phillies

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Two former college stars have been signed by the Philadelphia Phillies and turned over to their Eastern League farm club at Schenectady, N.Y.

They are left-handed pitcher Richard J. Bunker, 21, Newwood, Mass., who left Notre Dame in his junior year, and catcher Ronald S. Lemon, 20, of South Portland, Maine, who played with Springfield in the Eastern League.

Ministers To Arrange For DVBS

In June: The Methodist church was selected for the annual union Good Friday service and plans were launched for Gettysburg's first community daily vacation Bible school at the March meeting of the Gettysburg Ministerium Sunday evening at the home of the Rev. Roy K. Miller, near Gettysburg.

The Revs. Miller and Howard S.
Fox were named to a committee to make arrangements for the community church school to be conducted during two weeks in June. Although individual churches here have conducted vacation Bible schools this will be the first school of its kind ever conducted here on a community basis.

Seven Tons Of Clothing Given In

Collection which centered in Gettysburg but which attracted contributions from many county communities netted more than seven tons of clothing for needy civilians in war torn countries abroad, Cloyd Shetter, Gettysburg Lions club chairman for the community effort, has been advised.

The seven tons and 696 pounds of clothing, trucked from Gettysburg to Trenton recently, included 12,400 pounds of clothing and hundred pairs of shoes which weighed a total of 2,050 pounds.

Recall Early Tribulations Of Opening Of Hospital Here: The 25th anniversary of the founding of the Auntie M. Warner hospital, celebrated Sunday, sent a number of local residents reminiscing about the early days at the establishment.

The hospital started its existence with but three nurses, including Superintendent Carrie Stout, assistant superintendent and operating room nurse Miss Helen Hart and Mrs. Ruth Geisselman, then Miss Esther R. M. Miller, night nurse.

Members of the hospital staff had placed spreads over the beds for the open house held prior to the official opening of the hospital 25 years ago and when the time came for the first patient to arrive had to make up the bed with sheets and pillows in a rush before the patient reached the hospital.

The driveway to the hospital was a dirt road and the grounds were yet to be landscaped and planted.

Dr. J. A. Baum, who was a family doctor at the hospital, he said, had to walk in loping cantinch of the scrubby and grassy lawn in front of the hospital.

The first patient ward and nursery were built with pre-beds and two wooden go-carts.

Frank Schuster, first orderly,

RED CONGRESS
GOT PREVIEW ON STALIN ATTACK

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times said Friday that Nikita S.
Khrushchev gave the recent Soviet Communist Party Congress a secret explanation of the desan-ciling of Joseph Stalin that made public criticisms of the late dictator during the Congress sound
"like milk and water."

The Times report was written by the paper's former Moscow correspondent, Harrison E. Sallsbury, who said his information came from diplomatic reports reaching the United States from Moscow. He said the Moscow central committee had prevented correspondents there from cabling rumors about the Khrushchev speech circulating in the Soviet capital.

Sallsbury's Story
According to Sallsbury:
Khrushchev, the Soviet party's first secretary, made his sensational speech at a closed Congress session Feb. 24 from which delegates from foreign Communist parties were barred. The "comprehensive and forthright" address touched on events surrounding Lenin's death in 1924, the great purges of the 1930s, and Stalin's last years.

The party's present boss pictured his predecessor as "not himself" in his latter years. Stalin, he said, through much of his career was subject to phobias about the supposed treachery of his associates.

Khrushchev described Moscow in the late Stalin years as a capital "ridden by plots, counterplots and intrigue, in which no one knew who might be the next victim . . .
Many of Stalin's closest associates were unaware of the fate of intimate friends and collaborators
. . . Even the members of Stalin's Politburo (the top party command) were often kept in ignorance of what was happening."

"Terrible Mistake"

Khrushchev asserted that the treason charges on which Marshal Mikhail Tukachevsky and seven other top Red Army leaders were executed in 1937 were fabricated and a "terrible mistake." Because this deprived Russia of its top military leadership, Khrushchev said, the Red Army was almost overwhelmed by Germany's invasion in 1941.

Sallsbury wrote that party delegates "are now spreading by word-of-mouth around the country the essence of Mr. Khrushchev's reform."

"Some experts," he continued,
"suggested that after Soviet public opinion had been prepared for the full shock, the whole case against Stalin might be made public."

BUILDING AND FARM

Win Fame For Salads By Growing These Greens

Green leaves rich in vitamin easily grown at home.

Tossed salads are zooming in popularity, not only for their pleasant flavor, which gives the final touch to the dinner menu, but for the important part they play in reducing diets, and their contribution of vitamins to children's health.

Nothing can enhance your reputation as a salad expert more than your own garden of salad greens. In a corner of the vegetable garden you can grow a variety of crisp, flavorful leaves, such as you would never be able to find in markets.

Salads also stand high with gourmets. Many a popular restaurant gained its reputation by specializing in a fine tossed salad with well-mixed dressing.

The dressing is important, but this discussion is about the green leaves which you can grow all summer long, and pick fresh just long enough before the salad is eaten, for the leaves to be washed, dried and chilled.

Best Spring And Fall

Lettuce starts the list, and not the tight, white, head lettuce of commerce. Any salad chef will tell you that it is tasteless and "does not take the dressing well." What he prefers, if he can get it is cos lettuce, also called romaine, which catalogues list in several varieties.

Loose heading varieties are also excellent, with Bibb or limestone lettuce possibly a favorite. You can grow this in the early spring, and fall, but it goes to seed in hot weather. Leaf lettuce is also excellent in salads, and can be grown for a much longer period than the heading types. Use leaf lettuce as soon as leaves are two inches across, but be sure to thin out plants, so that they will mark the row.

Endive comes in two types, broad and curly leaved. Both have a distinctive flavor. They stand both hot weather and frost. A late sowing should always be made to mature in the fall, when frost improves the flavor.

ON THE HOUSE

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER
The Associated Press

It takes brains to keep up a house. Any housewife can tell you this. So you may think that electronic brains moving in on this scene don't make headline news. Brother, you've seen automation working on office business and if you can visualize the same automatic control over your comfort at home, we've got something here.

Now this may sound fancy, but an electronic brain system actually has been designed and is now on the market to tell your furnace what the weather is going to be, whether your bride is about to say that she feels chilly, and also to tell you whether there is a fire any place in the house.

It's like having the skeleton in the closet replaced by a robot.

Thermostats, of course, are well known. But the substitution of electronic controls for mechanical springs makes the new thermostats eight times as sensitive as the conventional type you may have on the wall, and about 100 times as sensitive as the human body. Which makes this a touchy subject.

Two nifty things about it are its ease of installation and its transparent switch plate. The latter, made of plastic, lets you put a sample of your own wall paint or wallpaper behind it. Screwless terminals make the switch easier to install than the conventional unit. Stripped heads of the wires are merely inserted in terminals slots, where they are held by springs.

Speaking of simplified wiring, have you seen the new appliance plugs that call for no tools — not even a knife? You thread them like a needle. Common two-wire plastic or rubber covered cord is pushed into the plug at one side. It comes out the top. Then you push the wire down into the next hole, pull the cord tight and you have a connection. No screwdriver; no broken fingernails.

Chervil is an aromatic plant somewhat resembling parsley but superior in flavor; and can be used both in the bowl salad and as a garnish for meats. Like parsley, the seed is slow to germinate. Sow it with a few radish seeds to mark the row.

Chives is a most useful salad vegetable. It is a cousin of the onion of which the leaves are used. They have a delicate onion flavor, just enough to season the salad. Chives grow from seed easily, and a plant lives many years. It bears an attractive lavender flower and is often used as a border along the garden path.

At least two sowings should always be made of these leaf vegetables, one in the spring and one in midsummer for the fall crop; and as many as four sowings may be made with good results.

The electric clocks that serve as brain center of this system have been designed as decorative features.

Similarly efficient is the new fire alarm system for homes. Sensitive buttons are concealed on ceilings. Each can detect every abnormal temperature over an area of 200 square feet. Any smoldering fire, such as those caused by frayed electrical wires, oily rags or dust combustions in attics, will set off the alarm.

Wiring is simple, since this fire bell works on the same low current as your door bell.

And while they were at it, the inventors of these devices came up with a new and sensible wall switch, now ready for hardware stores and electrical shops. This is a plate with one round button. One tap and it's on; one tap and it's off. You can tap it with your finger, elbow, or armful of eels.

Two nifty things about it are its ease of installation and its transparent switch plate. The latter, made of plastic, lets you put a sample of your own wall paint or wallpaper behind it. Screwless terminals make the switch easier to install than the conventional unit. Stripped heads of the wires are merely inserted in terminals slots, where they are held by springs.

Speaking of simplified wiring, have you seen the new appliance plugs that call for no tools — not even a knife? You thread them like a needle. Banish Moisture In Crawl Space

According to a recent survey, more than half of all new one-story houses are built without a basement. Many of these have left crawl spaces of only 18 inches to 4 feet between the floor and the ground. In such areas, moisture may be drawn to the surface of the ground by capillary action and evaporated into the atmosphere between the floor and the ground. As a consequence, the water vapor in this space usually becomes excessive. This moisture often finds its way into the interior of the wall space and causes damage to the wood structure. Moisture from this source, as a matter of fact, may be greater than from all other sources combined.

Proper drainage of the crawl space should be provided so that water will not collect in this area. Surfacing the crawl space with waterproof concrete or a layer of heavy 55 pound coated roll roofing, lapped 3 inches, will prevent the moisture from getting into the space between the ground and the house.

BUILDING AND FARM

Most Popular Father Is Gastronomic Gardener

Of all the recreations which can be enjoyed in a modern backyard, dedicated to family use, the most rewarding for a man is vegetable gardening.

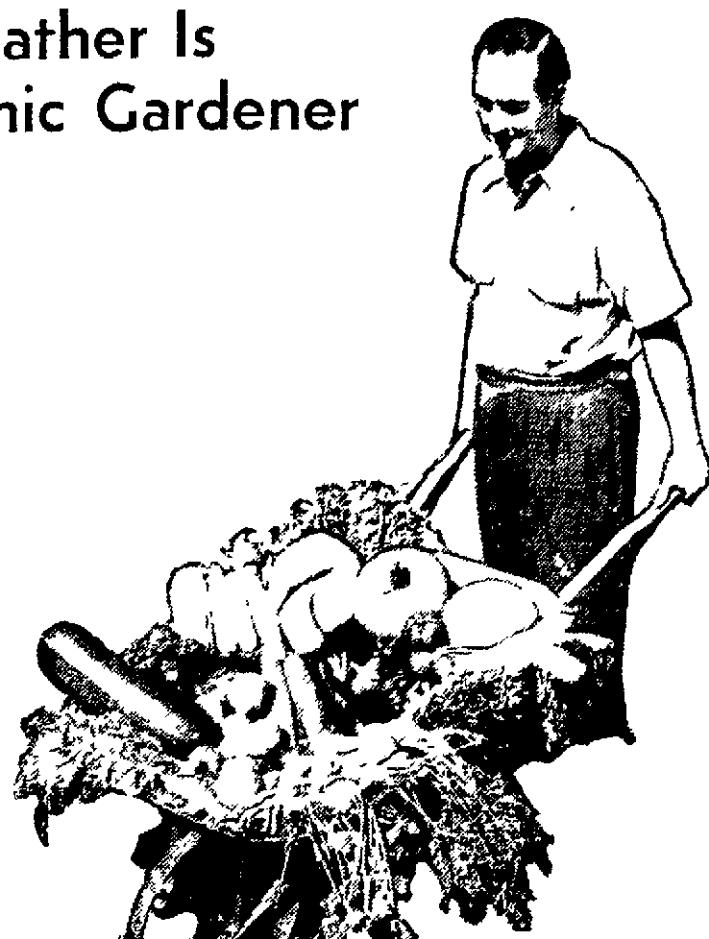

Don't scoff at the idea that growing vegetables is relaxing. Thousands of new home owners have found it the ideal hobby for an office man.

Women enjoy the decorative side of gardening, delighting in floral color schemes and landscape effects. Men get their greatest satisfaction from watching a seed which they have sown develop into a mature plant, whose perfection is a tribute to their skill.

Become Specialists

Men tend to specialize on one kind or group of plants. Some grow dahlias, roses or gladioli, but for most the vegetable garden has the greatest appeal. This produces well-balanced family teamwork, father growing food and mother ornamental plants.

Specialists may aspire to the largest tomatoes, the sweetest sweet-corn or the finest melons in the neighborhood. But the largest group have the gourmet's approach to gardening. They are connoisseurs, for whom Albert C. Burrage, of Ipswich, Mass., has written a manual, published by D. Van Nostrand & Co.

The whole family shares the enjoyment of vegetables from the home garden.

They are men who guard their taste buds and have learned, as Mr. Burrage puts it: "There is nothing like home-grown vegetables. Until you have eaten these wonderful delicacies you cannot believe that they actually exist." Strong words, but fully justified by the facts which Mr. Burrage has assembled.

Fresh Ones Are Best
Most important advantage which the "gastronomic gardener" enjoys is that of freshness in his vegetables. Flavor depends on freshness and the degree of maturity at which the height of tenderness and flavor are combined.

Practically all vegetables begin to lose flavor the moment they are harvested. Sweet corn and peas, for example, must be cooked within minutes after picking to be at their best. Even potatoes, newly harvested, have a special flavor which is soon lost after they are dug.

The only way to get really good vegetables is to grow them in your own garden so near the kitchen that they can be cooked garden-fresh and served at the peak of their flavor.

The whole family shares the enjoyment of vegetables harvested in the home garden. Children appreciate top flavor and tenderness as much as the parents do, and never have to be coaxed to eat vitamin-rich foods, which taste so good. As for the cost of this hobby, it actually saves money. To grow the family vegetables takes less time than to shop for them in the market.

PLYWOOD FOR DRAWERS
A special plywood for the sides of drawers has been developed which keeps the drawers from sticking.

Try this, men, before you turn the back yard wholly over to other uses. No other hobby could make you so popular with the family. To quote from Richardson Wright's foreword to the Burrage book: "The gastronomic gardener is the finest flower of family life . . . Only among a circle of off-spring and friends can he truly display his taste and the fruits of his horticultural skill."

for powdery mildew control prevent this get this

Powdery mildew, the felt-like mold that overwinters in the buds and may attack the leaves, blossoms, and the fruit itself, can now be effectively checked by KARATHANE WD in apple and pear orchards all over the country. KARATHANE WD is the first fungicide since sulfur to really control mildew. But unlike sulfur, it does not harm the blossoms, fruit or foliage of sensitive varieties when used as recommended.

When applied at pre-bloom and again during the cover period, it is effective even against severe outbreaks. For apples only 1 lb. of KARATHANE is needed for 100 gallons of spray, for pears only $\frac{1}{2}$ to $\frac{1}{4}$ lb. Control is made still more effective by adding 2 or 3 ounces of TRITON B-1956 to assure thorough wetting and coverage. Since KARATHANE WD is also a miticide, the same applications will control both mildew and European red, Willamette, two-spotted, and Pacific mites. Your supplier can give you a copy of our KARATHANE folder, which contains more complete information.

For healthier orchards and finer fruit, also use DITHANE Z-78 fungicide for sooty blotch, Brooks spot, black rot, and secondary scab.

RHOXANE (DDDD) sprays give unsurpassed control of red-banded leaf roller, and will aid in the control of apple maggot, and codling moth.

Urge Corner Lavatories

The advantages of corner lavatories as a means of saving space in homes of limited size are pointed out by the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau.

In a minimum-size bathroom or washroom, the installation of a triangular-shaped corner lavatory is a definite space-saving device. Even in more spacious master bathrooms and in second bathrooms, there is a swing toward corner lavatories because they often absorb marginal space and permit more freedom of motion.

In compartmentized bathrooms, too, a corner lavatory can frequently be used advantageously to save space in one of the compartments.

Corner lavatories also are popular in modernization work when space for fixtures is often quite limited. When a bathroom or washroom is being made from unused space such as a hall-end, pantry, part of a bedroom, or large clothes closet, a corner lavatory is often the ideal solution to a space problem.

It is because of the many uses for triangular-shaped corner lavatories that manufacturers are giving them every attention from a design standpoint. Corner lavatories are handsomely styled and attractive. Some are made with an integral back which serves as a convenient shelf for toilet articles.

One of the smallest corner lavatories is only 11 inches square. Another popular size is 16 inches square while a somewhat larger fixture is 17 inches square.

PLYWOOD FOR DRAWERS
A special plywood for the sides of drawers has been developed which keeps the drawers from sticking.

SANDING FLOORS

Maple and other hardwood floors call for a three-cut sanding job before finishing. To cut off high spots and joints, No. 2 or No. 2 1/2 sandpaper is used. A second cut calls for No. 1 sandpaper. The third cut is made with No. 0 or No. 00 sandpaper. All sanding should be done with the grain.

CHECK FLASHINGS

Practically every building has one or more pipes or vents projecting through the roof. They are mostly circular in shape and require special flashing to prevent leaks. The lack of the proper flashing can result in costly moisture troubles that will rot wood, rust metal and cause paint to blister.

Wood Sealer Can Improve Paint Job

Much of the home building going on today uses more green lumber than is generally believed. This is also true of our weekend carpentry projects.

The biggest problem encountered in the use of green lumber is the bleeding through of resins and pitch from knots and surrounding areas which destroys newly painted surfaces.

Now available is a highly effective anti-bleed wood sealer which is a primer and sealer for green and porous lumber.

In addition to coating knots and immediate surrounding areas, the sealer may be used before painting for coating such areas as spots of tar, rust, etc., to prevent bleeding and resultant damage to new paint.

It will also prove an effective stop in preventing stubborn penetrating or migrating stains from bleeding through, the maker claims. You'll also find it an excellent protective coating for nail heads, where the galvanized finish is often damaged in hammering, or for metal hinges, etc., to prevent rust and discoloration of surrounding painted areas.

The 4-ounce size has a convenient brush-in-cap for those little touch up, bleed-through jobs.

A mouse heart beats 300 or more times a minute.

Color Scheme Can Be Geared To Personality

"Be bold!" the Small Home Guide suggests, "in choosing home interior color schemes. And be consistent."

The Guide lists four points of procedure to follow in decorating the inside of your home: (1) Start with a color scheme plan — and stick to it. (2) Make a simple floor plan, establish basic traffic patterns and arrange your furniture on paper. (3) Select window treatments. (4) Select your accessories.

For your basic colors, the Guide emphasizes that you should pick a pattern you like and which complements you and your personality. Whether you choose period, contemporary, or a combination of both for a decorating scheme, the Guide suggests wood wall paneling as a soft background.

Among the most popular woods being used today for interior finish and wall paneling are Douglas fir, western red cedar and west coast hemlock. These woods have extraordinary texture and warm natural hues which are a great help in adapting to color and furnishing schemes.

For a truly contemporary setting, the Guide recommends reds and pinks in the living room, fading into soft pinks in kitchen and bedroom. Orange-yellow accent color could become gold for a background in another room.

"A 'transitional' grouping combining blue-green and green-blue with vivid accent of tangerine is exciting," the Guide says, "and these colors may be tinted and shaded for integrated color blending throughout the home."

Still another color arrangement deemed warm and comfortable by SHG is sharp blue and deep violet for major upholstery and large area colors, with bright pink as an accent.

A mouse heart beats 300 or more times a minute.

WHAT IS FLASHING?

Flashing is a strip of metal or roll roofing applied along roof valleys and caves, around projections through the roof, and wherever the roof meets a vertical wall. Before the asphalt shingles are laid, flashing must be properly applied according to exact specifications to assure a fully weather-tight roof.

HERE'S YOUR OPPORTUNITY!

TWO SENATORS WORK ON GIFT LIMITING PLAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democratic Leader Johnson of Texas said Friday he and Republican Leader Knowland of California are working on a proposal to limit the size of individual gifts to political funds. He termed it "a sharper crackdown" on big contributions.

Johnson and Knowland have collaborated in drafting what they refer to as a "clean elections" bill which 33 other senators have cosponsored with them. They said they hope Congress will act in time to apply it to this year's presidential and congressional campaigns.

The proposed limit on individual gifts would be offered as an amendment to this bill.

Details

Johnson declined to give any details, or indicate the size of the "ceiling" to be proposed.

Existing law places a $5,000 limit on the amount an individual may contribute legally to a political candidate or committee. But it allows any number of $5,000 contributions to different candidates and committees.

In presidential campaigns, there are usually several committees working for each of the major party candidates. Sometimes wealthy partisans give $5,000 to each of these committees—and have their wives and children make additional gifts.

To Be Substitute

As it now stands, the Johnson-Knowland bill would require contributors to make public all contributions which exceed $5,000 in the aggregate, but it would set no limit on the total. This is where their new amendment would apply.

When the Senate takes up their bill, it probably will be by consideration of it as a substitute for one already on the calendar. The latter bill was introduced by Sen. Hennings (D-Mo.) and others, and was approved by the senate rules committee last June.

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Eden declared Friday that Britain never will abdicate its position as a great world power.

"We cannot and will not," he said.

A policy of abdication, he added, could only end in neutralism—"and to be neutral for Britain is to allow death."

Eden spoke at a Conservative party rally.
